

Looking Upwards' Volunteer Amy Canario Honored

Laughter and creativity abound when Amy Canario is around. Amy has been a volunteer at Looking Upwards for over five years. She has assisted with fiber arts, taught loom knitting, and has been a resource for many other projects. Says Amy of her experiences volunteering at Looking Upwards, "I enjoy seeing people learn and the sense of accomplishment people feel after they complete a project."

Amy was one of the forty outstanding volunteers in the State of Rhode Island who were honored at the 2009 VolunCheers Awards. VolunCheers is presented by Serve Rhode Island, a statewide organization dedicated to meeting the volunteer service needs of our state.

We at Looking Upwards would like to thank Amy for her incredible spirit and her service to Looking Upwards that has touched so many lives. For more information about volunteering at Looking Upwards, contact Eileen Echevarria at 401-847-0960 x 66.
